MONMOUTH VICINAGE PROBATION EMPLOYEE HONORED

Monmouth Vicinage Court Services Supervisor II Patrick Keller recently received a career achievement award from the Chief Probation Officers of New Jersey (CPONJ).

Keller began his career with the New Jersey Judiciary as a probation officer in 2004 and joined the Monmouth Vicinage in 2007. In November 2011, he was assigned to the child support enforcement unit, where he supervises 21 caseworkers. Keller is distinguished for his exceptional dedication and professional skills as well as his contributions to the probation division's long-term success.

Trial Court Administrator Marsi L. Perkins said, "We are proud to recognize our outstanding probation professionals. In the face of many challenges, they serve a vital function in the courts and make a valuable impact on the community."

Keller joined other probation officers around the state who were recognized during National Probation, Parole and Community Supervision Week, which honors probation staff for outstanding achievements in child support matters as well as juvenile and adult supervision.

CPONJ is a professional association of chief and assistant chief probation officers from around the state. Each year, officers who stand out for outstanding achievement, meritorious service or career achievement are nominated for recognition.
