WELCOME TO THE SUPERIOR COURT OF NEW JERSEY – CIVIL COURTS

Purpose of this Booklet

This booklet is a guide to services in the Civil Division.

Judiciary Mission Statement

We are an independent branch of government constitutionally entrusted with the fair and just resolution of disputes in order to preserve the rule of law and to protect the rights and liberties guaranteed by the Constitution and laws of the United States and this State.

Statement of Core Values of the New Jersey Court System

Required to accomplish our mission are four paramount values representing the core of what we stand for as an organization:

- Independence
- Fairness
- Integrity
- Quality Service

CIVIL DIVISION OVERVIEW

The Civil Division consists of three operational parts: Civil Part, Special Civil Part, and Chancery, which includes the General Equity and Probate Parts.

The following are parties in civil actions:

- Plaintiff - person who sues.
- Defendant - person who is sued.
- Guardian - person appointed by the court to represent the interests of another with a disability (e.g., minor, incapacitated person).
- Executor - person named in a will to carry out the terms of the will, suing or defending on behalf of the estate of a decedent.
- Administrator - person suing or defending on behalf of an estate when the decedent died without a will.
- John or Jane Doe - fictitious defendant designation used when the true identity of the defendant or potential defendant is unknown.
- ABC Corporation - fictitious defendant designation used when the true identity of a corporate defendant or potential corporate defendant is unknown.
- Crossclaimant - defendant suing another defendant on a crossclaim.
- Counterclaimant - defendant suing a plaintiff on a counterclaim.
- Intervenor - a third party who voluntarily requests to participate in a lawsuit and is permitted by the court.
- Interpleader - party suing two or more persons claiming the same thing or fund and requesting that the court determine between or among them which is entitled to recover it.
- Third Party Plaintiff - party suing a non-party to the original suit on a third party complaint (complaint brought by a defendant against a party not sued by the plaintiff in the complaint).
- Third Party Defendant - party being sued in a third party complaint.

It is recommended that litigants seek the advice of an attorney if they have questions about their civil case. However, forms and instructions for filing a complaint are available on the Judiciary's Web Site at njcourts.com or can be obtained from court staff. A list of the telephone numbers and addresses appears on pages 21-23. Legal Services can help people who cannot afford an attorney, and the County Bar Association Lawyer Referral Programs can provide a referral to an attorney. A list of these offices appears on pages 17-20.

Civil Part

In the Civil Part, there is no monetary limit on the value of cases that may be filed. Either party in a Civil Part case may request a jury trial. A jury in a civil case typically consists of six persons. There are approximately 95,000 cases filed in the Civil Part each year. A case gets started in the Civil Part by the filing of a complaint and case information statement and the requisite fee with the court. The following types of cases are filed in the Civil Part and the numbers preceding them refer to the case type numbers that must be used when filling out the case information statement.

The UIM policy covers the insured for damages arising from an automobile accident in which the responsible party does not have enough insurance.

The act also contains fee-shifting and whistleblower provisions. The latter allow citizens with evidence of fraud against government contracts and programs (for example, Medicaid) to sue on behalf of the government in order to recover the misappropriated funds. Under subsection – 7d, in compensation for the risk and effort of filing a whistleblower case, the citizen whistleblower may be awarded a percentage of the recovery (between 25% to 35%) for prosecuting the civil action.

Actions brought under the False Claims Act are to be placed under seal and remain so for at least 60 days. The purpose of the seal is two-fold – to encourage citizens to come forward without fear of reprisal, and to allow the Attorney General time to investigate and determine whether to join the action without tipping off the alleged wrong doer.

The discovery process is a mechanism for allowing each side the opportunity to learn about the other side's case. The purpose of the pretrial discovery rules is to ensure that there are no surprises at the time of trial and that the end result of a case is based upon the actual merits of a case. During pretrial discovery, each side learns the evidence that will be used at trial to support either side's case.

Special Civil Part

The Special Civil Part is the civil court of limited jurisdiction. The Special Civil Part is a high volume court that deals with three case types: landlord/tenant matters, small claims lawsuits up to $3,000 and up to $5,000 for actions to recover security deposits and special civil lawsuits up to $15,000.

Typical small claims and special civil lawsuits include breach of a written or oral contract, return of money used as a down payment, loss or damage of property caused by a motor vehicle accident, back rent, bad checks, return of a tenant's security deposit, payment for work performed, or defective merchandise.

Landlord/tenant matters involve disputes between landlords and tenants. A landlord may file a complaint against a tenant for failure to pay rent, continued disorderly conduct, willful destruction of property, habitual lateness in the payment of rent, violation of the rules and regulations after a written notice to comply as outlined in a lease or document, or a tenant's conviction of a drug offense or other offenses.

General Equity

General Equity is frequently used where litigants go to obtain temporary restraining orders (TROs) and preliminary and permanent injunctive relief.

General Equity judges handle non-jury cases which may involve:

Business Disputes

Specific performance of (business) contracts, trade secrets, unfair competition, employment contracts restrictive covenants;

Contract Disputes

Breach of contract (where equitable relief is the principle relief sought), rescission and cancellation, reformation of instruments, subrogation;

Business Governance

Partnership and corporate litigation, appointment of fiscal agents, receivership, statutory, custodial or provisional directors, statutory receivership, business dissolutions;

Property Matters

Specific performance (real estate contracts), cancellation/discharge of mortgages, discharge of liens (non-mortgage), setting aside fraudulent conveyances, injunctive restraint of nuisances, establishment of lost title documents/instruments, partitions, quiet title, property-line disputes, impress (constructive) trusts;

Medical/End of Life Matters

Appointments of Special Medical Guardians (to authorize emergency, life-saving surgical or medical procedures), termination/continuation of life support;

Miscellaneous

Arbitration confirmation, labor strike injunctions, exhumations, environmental litigation;

Foreclosure

Residential (mortgage) foreclosures, commercial (mortgage) foreclosures, condominium/home owner association lien foreclosures, in personam tax foreclosures, in rem tax foreclosures, strict foreclosures and setting aside foreclosures.

Respecting foreclosures, detailed information, including answers to commonly asked questions and referral information for homelessness prevention, foreclosure recovery programs and free foreclosure mediation and counseling services appears on the Judiciary's web site at njcourts.com .

NOTE: Until a contesting answer is filed, all foreclosure matters are handled by the Foreclosure Unit in Trenton, and all filings should be sent directly there. The Foreclosure Unit forwards all cases in which contested answers are filed (and all subsequent papers involving the contested foreclosure) to the vicinage's General Equity judge.

Case Types Frequently Misfiled in General Equity

Matrimonial or palimony cases, probate cases, actions in lieu of prerogative writs, replevin and declaratory judgment actions (depends upon the nature of the underlying action) are not filed in General Equity.

Probate Part

Judges in the Chancery Division, Probate Part hear cases seeking equitable remedies such as execution of a will, appointment of guardians, and distribution of estates. The probate court's jurisdiction is generally over the following areas:

- Resolving will contests;
- Distributing estates;
- Establishing guardianships to protect persons who are mentally incapacitated and children; and
- Completing gifts of money or property according to the donor's intent.

Filing Special Civil Part Complaints

Special Civil Part complaints must be filed in the county where at least one defendant lives, or where the defendant's business is located. If there is more than one defendant, the complaint can be filed in the county where any one of the defendants lives. If the defendants do not live in New Jersey, the complaint must be filed in the county where the action originated. Complaint forms are available at njcourts.com.

Special Civil Part complaints may be filed by mail or in person. The court will process the documents filed, assign a docket number and serve the defendant(s) with the summons. It is important that the plaintiff provide the court with the defendant's correct address and that reference is made to the docket number whenever inquiries are made about the case.

Filing Probate Matters

All pleadings involving probate matters should be filed with the Surrogate. A list of the county Surrogates can be found at njcourts.com. Fee and other information, as well as sample forms, may be available in the county Surrogate's office.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Public Access Terminals, Information and Community Relations

Computers are available in some counties to the public to access civil case information. The computers are available from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday and are used on a first-come, first-serve basis.

In order to obtain Civil Division case information, the researcher must have a case name or docket number.

Access for Persons with Disabilities

The Judiciary is committed to providing equal access to its services and programs in accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). Each courthouse has a coordinator responsible for implementing the ADA. Disabled individuals who need an accommodation are encouraged to contact the vicinage ADA coordinator.

The Judiciary will make reasonable accommodations for disabled persons in a way that integrates the individual into the mainstream of court activities to the fullest extent possible. The disabled person is responsible for requesting an accommodation, and the Judiciary is responsible for providing a reasonable accommodation.

Advance notice to the court of the need for auxiliary aids or service is strongly encouraged. The ADA coordinator should be notified at least two weeks in advance of court sessions and hearings. For ongoing services and programs, the ADA coordinator should be notified at least 48 hours in advance. For emergencies or urgent requests, the ADA coordinator should be notified immediately.

Interpreting and Translating Services

If any of the parties or their witnesses do not speak English, the court should be promptly notified so that an approved interpreter can be provided. This service is provided at no cost. Please note that the court will not permit a non-approved individual, e.g., a friend or relative of a party, to serve as an interpreter.

Judiciary Anti-Discrimination Policy

It is the policy of the Judiciary not to permit discrimination against any individual on the basis of race, ethnicity, color, religion, marital status, sexual orientation, age, national origin, physical or mental disability or any other basis prohibited by law.

Preparing for Your Court Appearance

Whenever you contact or appear in court, it is important to have the information notifying you of your docket number, date to appear, and the location of the courtroom in which you are scheduled to appear. If you have an attorney, you should meet with him/her to discuss your case.

If you need an accommodation for a disability, you must notify the court as soon as possible. Information about the availability of special services and assistance can be obtained by calling the civil division in the county in which your case is pending.

You can learn more about the rules governing the practice, procedure and administration of the state's courts in the New Jersey Rules of Court, which can be found in public libraries, law libraries and at njcourts.com in the "Legal Reference Desk" section.

On the day of your court appearance.....

- Arrive on time. If you are late, the judge may postpone, dismiss or decide your case in your absence.
- When entering the courtroom, remove your hat and turn off all cell phones and pagers.
- Bring your court notice with you; it contains your case information.
- Do not bring any food or beverages into the courtroom.
- If you need additional time to prepare your case, you may ask the judge to grant you an adjournment. An adjournment is the postponement of a session, hearing, trial or other proceeding to another day or time. It is within the judge's discretion to grant or deny an adjournment.
- While addressing the court, you must use appropriate language. Address the judge as "Your Honor" and speak directly to the judge and not to the other party.
- You should not interrupt the opposing party while he or she is speaking. After the other party has finished speaking, you or your lawyer may request an opportunity from the judge to respond. An opportunity to respond is left to the judge's discretion.
- After each party has presented his or her side, the judge or jury will make a decision.
- In some cases, the court may refer your case to a settlement program on the day scheduled for your trial. Although you will have to participate in such programs, you are not obligated to settle your case. If your case does not settle, a judge will hear your case on that day.

IMPORTANT

If the plaintiff does not appear, the case may be dismissed. If the defendant does not appear, the court may find him or her in default. If judgment is awarded and the defendant refuses to pay or cannot pay immediately after the court proceedings, the plaintiff should contact court staff, who can provide information on collecting the judgment.

WHAT COURT STAFF MAY AND MAY NOT DO

We will be happy to help you if we can. However, we are allowed to help you only in certain ways. This is a list of some things the court staff CAN and CANNOT do for you. Please read it carefully before asking the court staff for help.

- WE CAN explain and answer questions about how the court works.
- WE CAN tell you what the requirements are to have your case considered by the court.
- WE CAN give you some information from your case file.
- WE CAN provide you with samples of court forms that are available.
- WE CAN provide you with guidance on how to fill out forms.
- WE CAN usually answer questions about court deadlines.
- WE CANNOT give you legal advice. Only your lawyer can give you legal advice.
- WE CANNOT tell you whether or not you should bring your case to court.
- WE CANNOT give you an opinion about what will happen if you bring your case to court.
- WE CANNOT recommend a lawyer, but we can provide you with the telephone number of a local lawyer referral service.
- WE CANNOT talk to the judge for you about what will happen in your case.
- WE CANNOT let you talk to the judge outside of court.
- WE CANNOT change an order issued by the judge.

We look forward to helping you in accordance with these guidelines.
