I. Introduction

Historically, New Jersey’s Family Courts have been challenged by difficult cases involving the parent-child relationship. In visitation cases, parents who are separated or divorced may show signs of substance abuse or may have had little or no contact with their children over a long period of time with their children.

Furthermore, the relationship between estranged parents can create a stressful time for all involved. When this affects the parents, the resulting anger and hostility may affect the life of the child. The deterioration of a relationship between parents should not prevent children from maintaining a satisfying bond with each parent regardless of parental conflict or domestic violence.

In 1984, the New Jersey legislature adopted the Supervised Visitation Program (codified N.J.S.A. 2A:12-7 et seq.), recognizing that “the inability of a parent to spend time with a child poses serious psychological problems to both the parent and child and prevents the growth of a normal, healthy relationship.” The Legislature in adopting the act sought to preserve the benefits of bonding between the child and the absent parent while ensuring the safety and the welfare of the child.

The Supervised Visitation Program, by identifying safe facilities in local communities for visitations to take place and enlisting volunteers to closely monitor these difficult cases, the legislation makes a compassionate commitment to the philosophy that the parent/child relationship is significant and necessary part of the child’s life and of the parent’s life.

II. Administration of the Program

A. Administrator

N.J.S.A. 2A:12-7 et seq. designates the Administrative Director of the Courts as the administrator of the Supervised Visitation Program. The legislation sets forth the specific duties and responsibilities of the Administrator. The Administrator is also responsible for arranging for technical assistance to Program Administrators in the vicinages.

B. State Coordinator

The State Coordinator of the Supervised Visitation Program, as part of the staff of the Administrative Office of the Courts, serves as the program's statewide manager, ensuring its compliance with the letter and spirit of the legislation, Court Rules and the Procedures Manual. The State Coordinator also provides technical assistance to the vicinages.

C. County Coordinators

There are Supervised Visitation Program County Coordinators (hereafter referred to as County Coordinators) in each of the twenty one counties who manage the program at the local (trial court) level. The County Coordinator ensures that all components of the Supervised Visitation Program are managed effectively. These components include reviewing all cases referred for program participation, scheduling sites and volunteers to meet visitation schedules and submitting statistical data to the State Coordinator. The County Coordinator ensures that the screening, training, managing and supervising of all volunteers in the program complies with applicable and approved standards. County coordinators report matters specific to the Supervised Visitation Program to the Family Division Manager.

III. Community Involvement

The Supervised Visitation Program blends dedication, skills and community spirit into a special Family Division service.

a. Volunteers

In addition to court staff and paid monitors, volunteers are a key component of the program. Volunteers provide supervision not only during the day, during evenings and during weekends so that visitation can occur at times convenient to the families. The volunteers serve as neutral observers, ensuring the safety of the child; they intervene only when necessary.

All volunteers must complete a certified training course before beginning supervision. Training is conducted by the County Coordinators, with technical assistance from the Administrative Office of the Courts as needed.

b. Community Sites

Community sites support the program by donating their facilities for Program use. All sites prior to use must first be approved by the Administrative Director of the Courts pursuant to N.J.S.A. 2A:12-7 et seq. Sites must be accessible, functional, comfortable, and safe.

IV. How the Program Works

a. Referral By the Court to the County Coordinator

Referral to the Supervised Visitation Program by the court, for a pre-screening interview, is appropriate in dissolution, non-dissolution or domestic violence cases where the court is concerned about the physical or emotional welfare of the child and after third-party supervision provisions have been exhausted. Additionally, domestic violence cases awaiting risk assessments are referred to the program.

b. Pre-screening Interview

A comprehensive interview is conducted by the County Coordinator. The purpose of the interview is to assess the case's suitability for the Program, gather information, and, if appropriate, arrange a tentative schedule for the visitations.

c. Court Order

The court order should stipulate: the length of visits, the duration of supervised visitation, the names of the individuals attending the visitation and a review date for determining if supervision is to continue.

d. Visitation

The role of the observer is to serve as a neutral observer and carefully monitor the visitation intervening on behalf of the child when necessary. The observer may terminate the visitation session if the rules of the visitation, distributed during the pre-screening interview, are violated or if, in the judgment of the observer, continuation of that visit is distressful to the child or threatening to the welfare of the child.

V. Access and Visitation Grant

Since 1997, the New Jersey Judiciary has been the recipient of funds to sustain our Supervised Visitation program through the Federal Access and Visitation grant. The grant requires that funds be used by the states to establish and/or continue programs to support and facilitate non-custodial parents' access to and visitation with their children. In FFY 2008, we received $242,001 in funds through the Access and Visitation grant. These funds were distributed among the vicinages based on need and number of litigants served.
