Subj: Family - Order to Show Cause - Model Form for Dissolution, Non-Dissolution, and Domestic Violence (FM, FD & FV) Dockets

Date: March 16, 2020

Directives #16-05 and #08-08, promulgated four Order to Show Cause forms for use in the Civil, Family, General Equity, Special Civil, and Probate Parts. The order templates in the original directives did not include language specific to Family Division emergent applications. This directive is being issued specifically to address Family Division matters. It thus supersedes Directive #16-05 and Directive #08-08, as to their application to Family Division matters, and promulgates for immediate use in Family Division matters two new standard forms: (1) Emergent Application (CN 11523), and (2) Order to Show Cause (CN 12547).

R. 4:52-1 applies to persons who have emergent matters, including those in the Family Division seeking relief to prevent immediate and irreparable harm from occurring if it is not addressed right away. The attached forms are to be used to apply for an emergent hearing in the Family Division for reliefs such as emergency custody, termination of visitation, or temporary prevention of relocation of a child outside New Jersey boundaries.

If the filing for an Order to Show Cause is under the Dissolution docket (FM) or the Domestic Violence docket (FV), only the two forms attached to this directive must be completed and filed with the court.

If the filing is under a Non-Dissolution docket (FD), either a verified complaint (CN#11492) or a post-disposition application (CN#11487) must accompany the attached two forms. The Non-Dissolution Complaint and post-disposition application forms with instructions are available on the court's website: www.njcourts.gov.

Questions regarding this directive may be directed to the Administrative Office of the Courts, Family Practice Division, at (609) 815-2900 ext. 55350.

Emergent Hearing (Order to Show Cause)

Orders to Show Cause are generally used to avert or prevent irreparable harm to a child or to protect their health, safety, and welfare. Prevention of harm is the reason to seek emergent remedy with the court. The court, in its discretion, may issue an emergency order. Only a judge can determine if an emergency hearing is necessary.

Examples of issues that may be raised in an Order to Show Cause are: emergency custody, termination of visitation or temporary prevention of relocation of a child outside New Jersey boundaries. Non-payment of spousal support, if a family is facing immediate eviction, may be an issue for an Order to Show Cause. Non-payment of child support is NOT an issue for an Order to Show Cause.

If you wish to apply for an emergency hearing the following steps must be completed:

New Cases

1. If this is your first filing of an FD case (no previous FD docket # concerning the same people), complete the “Initial Application/Cross Application” and all forms required for a new case.
2. If you are filing a new complaint for divorce (FM), then you will need to complete the Emergent Application and the Order to Show Cause forms.
3. Check “other Relief” and write that you are requesting an emergency hearing.
4. Complete the “Emergent Application” form in its entirety. Use the “Additional Information form” to further explain why your case is an emergency. Sign and date both forms.

Reopen Cases

5. If you already have a FD docket # involving the same people, complete the “Application/Cross Application to Modify a Court Order” form and all accompanying forms required to reopen your case. On the “Application to Modify a Court Order”, check number 6, “The relief I am seeking is not listed above”. Check “I am seeking the following from the court”. Write that you are requesting an emergent hearing.
6. If you already have a FM or FV docket # involving the same people, complete both the Emergent Application and the Order to Show Cause forms.
7. Complete the “Emergent Application” form in its entirety. Use the “Additional Information form” to further explain why your case is an emergency. Sign and date both forms.
