NOTICE TO THE BAR

Statewide Expansion of Electronic Filing in the Special Civil Part

The electronic filing component of the Judiciary Electronic Filing and Imaging System (JEFIS) will be expanded statewide in the Special Civil Part beginning in the Fall of 2000. The text of the Supreme Court's order relaxing or supplementing a number of court rules to permit the expansion of JEFIS follows this Notice to the Bar. The statewide program will enable attorneys to electronically file over the Internet all pleadings and other documents in civil actions that involve $10,000 or less (for the time being tenancy actions and small claims are not included). Under the program, attorneys will file documents electronically with the Clerk of the Superior Court in Trenton through the Judiciary's website (www.judiciary.state.nj.us). The Judiciary's computer system, in turn, will process and distribute those documents electronically to the office of the Special Civil Part Clerk in the county of venue for printing, processing, service (if the documents are a summons and complaint), and storage in paper form. Documents in cases venued in Monmouth County, the site of the JEFIS pilot, will continue as part of JEFIS to be processed and stored in electronic form.

To participate in the electronic filing program, attorneys must meet certain minimum requirements established by the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) and must be registered with the Superior Court Clerk's Office in Trenton as eligible to participate. Those attorneys and law firms must establish collateral accounts with the Superior Court Clerk's Office for the payment of filing fees, if they have not already done so. Participants will be able to electronically transfer funds to their collateral accounts as needed in order to minimize the amount of time that such funds lie idle. The hardware and software needed by participating firms include a personal computer equipped with Windows 95/98, Microsoft Internet Explorer 5.0, Microsoft Outlook Express 5.0, a scanner capable of 300 dpi, a modem, and access to the Internet.

Further details will be available after July 31, 2000 in an electronic filing package for attorneys. The package will include a JEFIS Participation Form (in order for the attorney or firm to register for the program with the Superior Court Clerk's Office), a Participation Agreement that must be signed by each individual attorney who will be filing electronically, a copy of the above-referenced Supreme Court rule relaxation order, a more detailed explanation of the program, and user guides for the components of the program. While the program will not be operational until the fall, the package is being made available to interested attorneys at this time so that they, their information technology (IT) advisors, and their software vendors can begin the necessary preparations well before the program startup date. It is anticipated that the program will be of particular interest to those law firms with a high volume of filings in the Special Civil Part; but it nonetheless has been designed to be equally accessible and useful to lower volume law firms. Seminars will be provided by the AOC to assist participating law firms, their IT advisors, and software vendors; the dates, times and places of those seminars will be announced in September. The package can be obtained through the Judiciary's website (www.judiciary.state.nj.us) or by contacting:

4. Rule 1:4-9 is relaxed so as to permit attorneys participating in the program to file all pleadings and other papers in an electronic format prescribed by the Administrative Office of the Courts that will produce, as needed, printed paper copies that meet the requirements of the rule.
