Cape May County Judges Preside Over Mock Trial Competition

Lower Cape May Regional High School was declared the winner of the Cape May County High School Mock Trial Competition.

The competition pitted county high school teams against each other in a fictional court case involving the illegal downloading of music files.

Superior Court Judges Susan F. Maven and John R. Rauh and Municipal Court Presiding Judge Louis J. Belasco participated in the competition.

Lower Cape May will compete against the winning team from Cumberland County in Round 1 of the Southern Regional Mock Trial Competition at 10 a.m. on Thursday, Feb. 12 at the Law Center in New Brunswick. Regional winners from around the state will compete in the semi-final round on March 24 to determine who will proceed to the state finals on March 31.

The Cape May County High School Mock Trial Program is sponsored by the New Jersey State Bar Foundation in cooperation with the Cape May County Bar Association and the Superior Court of Atlantic and Cape May counties
