Essex Vicinage to Hold Court and Community Information Fair

Newark—New Jersey Superior Court, Essex Vicinage will hold an information fair on Saturday, June 27. The fair will take place at the East Orange Public Library, 21 S. Arlington Ave., second floor, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Court representatives will answer questions about court services, resources and procedures and will distribute Judiciary publications addressing topics such as landlord/tenant, child support, small claims and expungements. In addition, representatives from local organizations will be present to offer information about legal assistance, substance abuse treatment, vocational programs, housing assistance, immigration assistance and domestic violence programs. Participating organizations include Community Health Law Project, Essex County Division of Welfare, Essex-Newark Legal Services, Newark Emergency Services for Families, Office of the Essex County Public Defender, La Casa de Don Pedro and Partners for Women and Justice.

This event is part of the Essex Vicinage's ongoing community outreach initiatives.

The fair is open to the public and no registration is required.
