Essex Vicinage to Hold Child Support Seminar

The Essex Vicinage will hold a free child support seminar on Wednesday, March 27 from 6 to 8 p.m. on the second floor of the East Orange Public Library, 21 S. Arlington Ave., East Orange.

Among the topics that will be discussed are child support issues, including court processes and procedures; child support guidelines and pertinent laws; filing for establishment, modification and termination of child support orders and emancipation of dependents; and enforcement of child support orders. The seminar also will include a question and answer session.

Registration is not required.

This is an informational seminar only. No individual cases will be discussed or resolved.

A Spanish interpreter will be available. For additional interpreting services, contact the Information and Community Relations Center at 973-693-5774.

Representatives from Community Health Law Project and the Essex Vicinage will conduct the seminar.

The seminar was organized by the Essex Vicinage Advisory Committee on Minority Concerns and Office of the Ombudsman. Visit njcourts.com for information about ongoing community outreach efforts in the Essex Vicinage.
