

FILED

PREPARED BY THE COURT

NOV 16 2021

IN RE: TALC-BASED POWDER PRODUCTSJOHN C. PORTO, J.S.C.*SUPERIOR COURT OF NEW JERSEY
LAW DIVISION: ATLANTIC COUNTY*MASTER DOCKET No. ATL-L-2648-15*CIVIL ACTION NO.: 300 (MCL)*ORDER

THIS MATTER being opened by this Court, sua sponte, following the voluntary filing of a Chapter 11 Bankruptcy Petition and the imposition of the Automatic Stay entered in the United States Bankruptcy Court, Western District of North Carolina-Charlotte Division on October 14, 2021 bearing the Caption In re LTL Management LLC, Case No. 21-30589 (JCW) and for good cause being shown:

IT IS this 16th day of November 2021 ORDERED:

1. In light of the aforementioned filing and entry of the automatic stay imposed by section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code, all Talc based claims brought by the Plaintiffs, as well as any future claims brought against the Defendants in this Multi County litigation are stayed pending further order of the Bankruptcy Court and further order of this Court; and
2. Notwithstanding the entry of this Order, any party may take reasonable steps to perpetuate the testimony of any person subject to this Order who is not expected to survive the duration of this Order or who is otherwise expected to be unable to provide testimony if such testimony is not perpetuated during the duration of this Order without leave of Court and as further provided in paragraph number 9 of the Bankruptcy Court's Order entered on November 15, 2021.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a true copy of this Order shall be served upon all counsel of record within three (3) days of the date hereof by uploading to ecourts.

JOHN C. PORTO, J.S.C.