h. Self-Support Reserve - The self-support reserve is a factor in calculating a child support award only when one or both of the parents have income at or near the poverty level. The self-support reserve is 105% of the U.S. poverty guideline for one person. It attempts to ensure that the obligor has sufficient income to maintain a basic subsistence level and the incentive to work so that child support can be paid. A child support award is adjusted to reflect the self-support reserve only if payment of the child support award would reduce the obligor's net income below the reserve and the custodial parent's (or the Parent of the Primary Residence's) net income minus the custodial parent's share of the child support award is greater than 105% of the poverty guideline. The latter condition is necessary to ensure that custodial parents can meet their basic needs so that they can care for the children. As of [January 11, 2019] January 15, 2020, the self-support reserve is [$252] $258 per week. (This amount is 105% of the poverty guideline for one person).

i. Income Tax Withholding - For wage earners, income tax withholding rates provide an accurate estimate of after-tax income available to pay weekly support obligations. Income tax withholding may differ from end-of-year tax obligations due to the parent's filing status and the number of [exemptions] dependents, deductions and credits reported or claimed by each parent.

20. Extreme Parental Income Situations

Although these guidelines apply to all actions to establish and modify child support awards, extremely low or high parental income situations make the Appendix IX-F awards inappropriate due to the limitations of the economic data. The guidelines listed below apply to extreme parental income situations.

- a. Obligors With Net Income Less Than the U.S. Poverty Guideline. If an obligor's net income, after deducting that person's share of the total support award, is less than 105% of the U.S. poverty guideline for one person (net income of [$252] $258 per week as of [January 11, 2019] January 15, 2020, or as published annually in the Federal Register), the court shall carefully review the obligor's income and living expenses to determine the maximum amount of child support that can reasonably be ordered without denying the obligor the means of self-support at a minimum subsistence level. If an obligee's income minus the obligee's share of the child support award is less than 105% of the poverty guideline, no self-support reserve adjustment shall be made regardless of the obligor's income. In all cases, a fixed dollar amount shall be ordered to establish the principle of the parent's support obligation and to provide a basis for an upward modification should the obligor's income increase in the future. In these circumstances, the support award should be between $5.00 per week and the support amount at $180 combined net weekly income for the appropriate number of children.

Note on Social Security Taxes: Social Security tax withholding (FICA) for high-income persons may vary during the year. In the early part of the year, 6.2% is withheld on the first [$132,900] $137,700 of gross earnings (for wage earners in [2019] 2020). After the maximum $8,240 is withheld, no additional FICA taxes are withheld. Thus, pay stubs issued early in the year may understate net income, while those issued later in the year may overstate it. To estimate weekly FICA taxes, amortize the annual FICA tax using the number of weeks employed or use the Appendix IX-H combined tax tables. Note that self-employed persons must pay the full FICA tax (12.4%) up to the [$132,900] $137,700 limit of all earned income.

Line 2a - Withholding Taxes

Enter each parent's combined weekly federal, state, and local withholding taxes in the appropriate Line 2a column.

Once the taxable portion of gross income is determined, the combined federal, state, city (if applicable), Social Security, and Medicare withholding taxes are deducted. As set forth below, four methods are available to determine the amount of combined income tax withholding to be deducted from gross income.

1. Combined Income Tax Withholding Tables (Appendix IX-H) - To use the combined tax withholding tables, the gross taxable income and the number of [withholding allowances claimed] dependent children eligible for the federal income tax credit (eligible dependents) must be known.

a. Income tax withholding is meant to be consistent with end-of-year tax obligations to avoid the need for payments or refunds. Generally, individuals may claim from zero to two withholding allowances for themselves, one for a spouse, and one for each dependent. Starting in the 1998 tax year, additional allowances may be claimed to accommodate the new child tax credit (see paragraph b). The number of withholding exemptions claimed may vary with the taxpayer's marital status, number of jobs held, estimated adjustments to income, and the employment status of the taxpayer's spouse (see Section 3402 of the Internal Revenue Code, IRS Form W-4, or IRS Pub. 505).

b. Individuals must justify claiming fewer withholding exemptions than allowed since this may result in less available gross income per payroll period and may provide the taxpayer with a substantial refund at the end of the year that will not be considered when determining the child support award. Unless a party can show good cause for claiming fewer withholding exemptions than permitted, the following standards shall be used to determine withholding taxes from the Appendix IX-H Combined Tax Withholding Tables:

- (1) Two allowances for the parent, and one additional allowance if filing as head-of-household.
- (2) Four allowances for each child if not married and income is less than $71,201 or if married and income is less than $103,351.
- (3) Two allowances for each child if not married and income is between $71,201 and $179,050 or if married and income is between $103,351 and $345,850.
- (4) One allowance for each child if not married and income is between $179,051 and $200,000 or married and income is between $345,851 and $400,000.]

(To determine eligibility, see IRS Form W-4 and 26 U.S.C.A. § 24).

NOTE: The combined tax withholding table may not result in the correct tax withholding amount if significant portions of the parent's income are not subject to FICA/Medicare tax (e.g., alimony, rents, dealings in property, interest income), if wages for federal income tax and the FICA/Medicare tax differ, or if the parent is self-employed (requires payment of the full FICA/Medicare tax rate on 92.35% of income - see IRS Pub. 533 or Schedule SE). Generally, unearned income is not subject to the FICA/Medicare tax. See the notes at the end of the Appendix IX-H combined tax withholding table.

Lines 33 and 34 – Maintaining a Self-Support Reserve

To ensure that the PAR retains sufficient net income to live at a minimum subsistence level and has the incentive to work, that parent's net child support award is tested against 105% of the U.S. poverty guideline for one person. If the PAR's net income after deducting the child support award is less than the self-support reserve, the order should be adjusted. No such adjustment shall occur, however, if the PPR's net income minus the PPR's child support obligation is less than the self-support reserve. This priority is necessary to ensure that a PPR can meet his or her basic needs while caring for the child(ren). The poverty guideline will be disseminated by the AOC each February or when it is published in the Federal Register. The self-support reserve test is applied as follows:

1. Subtract the obligor's child support obligation from that person's net income.
2. If the difference is greater than 105% of the poverty guideline for one person ([\$252] ~~\$258~~ per week as of [January 11, 2019] January 15, 2020), the self-support reserve is preserved, and the obligor's support obligation is the child support order.
3. If the difference is less than 105% of the poverty guideline for one person and the PPR's net income is greater than 105% of the poverty guideline, the obligor's child support order is the difference between the obligor's net income and the 105% of the poverty guideline for one person.

In determining whether the application of the self-support reserve is appropriate, the court may need to impute income to a parent as provided in Appendix IX-A. The court should also consider a parent's actual living expenses and the PPR's share of the support obligation (see Appendix IX-A, paragraph 20).

COMMENTS ON THE USE OF THE COMBINED TAX TABLES

Appendix IX-H

Limitations of this Table – This table should not be used if either parent: (1) has income from non-wage income that is not subject to the same taxes as wages (such as alimony or Social Security disability – see Appendix IX-B), (2) claims mandatory retirement contributions, or (3) has a married marital status for tax withholding purposes.

Withholding Taxes vs. Year-End Tax Obligations – This table is based on withholding rates and the federal Child Tax Credit. It is meant to provide an estimate of how much after-tax income an individual has available to pay child support at the end of each week. Year-end tax obligations, adjustments, credits, and tax refunds (e.g., earned income credit, filing as head of household, personal deductions for children) are not considered in this table and may result in taxes that differ from the amount withheld by an employer. When applying the [s]Support [g]Guidelines, withholding taxes and/or net income should be adjusted based on year-end tax obligations after reviewing tax returns if such an adjustment would more accurately reflect net income available to either parent in future years.

[Withholding Allowances] Eligible Dependents – For [assumptions] eligibility regarding the number of [withholding allowances permitted by an individual] dependents qualifying for the federal Child Tax Credit, see Appendix IX-B, Line 2a and IRS Form W-4 (2020).

Self-Employed Persons – This table gives the withholding tax for employees who are paid wages for their services. It assumes that the employer is paying a portion of the Social Security and Medicare taxes for the employee (7.65%). To estimate the combined tax for self-employed persons earning no more than [$2,556] $2,648 per week ([$132.900] $137,700 per year), multiply gross taxable weekly income by 0.0765 and add the result to the table amount. For persons earning above [$2,556] $2,648 per week, multiply gross taxable weekly income by .0145 (Medicare), add [$158] $164 (Social Security max), and add the sum to the table amount. IMPORTANT: Although this formula will provide an estimate of self-employment income taxes, a careful review of the most recent personal and business tax returns will provide a more accurate tax figure for self-employed persons. Also, see IRS Pubs 505 and SE and App. IX-B (Determining Income).

Non-Taxable Income – Some forms of income (e.g., Social Security, VA, Worker's Comp) are not subject to state or federal income tax. Such income is added to taxable income after combined withholding taxes are deducted. Do not combine non-taxable income with gross taxable income when using these tables. (See Appendix IX-B – Determining Income).

Alimony Income – Alimony ordered after December 31, 2018, received or paid, is neither taxable nor deductible for federal income tax purposes. Alimony ordered prior to January 1, 2019 received [is] may be subject to federal and state income tax, but not Social Security or Medicare tax. If the combined tax tables are used for gross income that includes taxable alimony, deduct the Social Security/Medicare tax for the amount of the alimony (0.0765) from the combined withholding tax.

Social Security Tax (FICA) – This table gives the correct amount of combined withholding tax only if wages for income tax and Social Security are the same. The Social Security tax withholding rate for wage earners is 0.062. The maximum amount of Social Security tax for one year ([\$8,240] \$8,537/year or [\$158] \$164/week) is averaged into the table for income ranges above [\$132,900] \$137,700. Refer to IRS Publications 15 and 15-T for more information. Note that some forms of income are not subject to Social Security and Medicare tax (interest income, rents, dealing in property). These forms of income should be excluded from gross income when estimating a parent's taxes. Also, self-employed persons must pay the full Social Security/Medicare tax on 92.35% of their gross income. (See IRS Form Schedule SE.)

Medicare Tax – This table accounts for Medicare tax and "Additional Medicare Tax." The Medicare tax withholding rate for wage earners is 0.0145 for all incomes. In addition to the 1.45% Medicare tax, there is an Additional Medicare Tax of 0.9% applied to wages in excess of $200,000. The 0.9% Additional Medicare Tax also applies to self-employed persons (there is no employer share of Additional Medicare Tax).

Federal Income Tax – This table includes federal income tax withholding rates as published by the IRS (see Publications 15 and 15-T (Circular E) for use in [2019] 2020 [, revised December 17, 2018]. To determine the amount of federal income tax for incomes greater than those shown in this table, refer to [this] the same IRS Publications.

New Jersey Income Tax – This table includes tax withholding rates published by the NJ Division of Taxation (see NJ-WT, effective January 1, [2019] 2020). To determine New Jersey withholding tax for incomes greater than those shown in this table, refer to this same NJ-WT publication.
