Monmouth Vicinage to Hold Women's History Month Program

The Monmouth Vicinage will celebrate Women's History Month with a virtual presentation on Thursday, March 9 from 12:30-1:30 p.m. The Women's History Month theme this year is "Celebrating Women Who Tell Our Stories."

Jennifer Chauhan, executive director of Project Write Now, will discuss female poets and writers who published their stories. The presentation will include a basic writing workshop. Project Write Now is a non-profit organization dedicated to transforming communities, organizations, and individuals through writing.

Trial Court Administrator Gurpreet M. Singh will give opening remarks.

This virtual event is free and open to the public. Registration is required by Wednesday, March 8. Those interested in viewing the program can register here.

For more information, to request an ADA accommodation, or for interpreting services, contact Monmouth Vicinage EEO/AA Officer Paulyn Holandez at 732-358-8700, ext. 87682 or paulyn.holandez@njcourts.gov.

The program is sponsored by the Monmouth Vicinage EEO/AA Advisory Committee and the Advisory Committee on Diversity, Inclusion and Community Engagement.
