I do want to give feedback. I was living in house that my family owns with other roommates in Jersey City. The fact that the courts have shut down evictions has been an unfair nightmare. I was forced to live in a house for months because I had no where else to go with another couple that were having crazy violent scary domestic violence issues and also stealing from me.

I ended up ultimately having to flee to Florida because I didn't feel safe living with them. I just want to complain and explain to the courts that every day that there is a blanket moratorium you are forcing people to have to live with horrible domestic violence and abuse.
